THE ONE WAY TRAIL
By Ben Moore

I think of life's vale as a winding trail
Where the years are the miles I've trod,
And I pause alone at a new milestone
Ere I travel it on toward God.
Backward I gaze to my childhood days,
And I dream of the years gone by—
Of the smiles and tears of my younger years
When the spirit of youth ran high.
There were those who sighed, or eagerly cried
For friendship and food from the strong;
But, smiling, I said as I pressed ahead,
"I'm planning to help ere long."
Alas! I have learned that I never returned,
And sadness creeps o'er my heart
That I left them there with never a prayer,
So eager was I to depart.
And now as I view the way that is new—
The trail that I never have trod—
This prayer I say at the close of day,
Ere I travel it onward to God:
Oh! Grant unto me a heart that is free,
A hand ever helpful to men;
And help me to know I must serve as I go,
I never shall pass here again.

It is not until we approach the high noon of life that we really appreciate the meaning of—"The One Way Trail," and the complete realization that we shall never pass over the trail but once.

It's so easy to say—"I'm busy today, by and by, I'll drop so-and-so a letter and cheer him." Or—"I'm planning to help so-and-so before long."

Alas! We know little what the tomorrow will bring. The trail we shall tread tomorrow is a brand new one, and one we know little about.

It is only when we firmly grasp all this that we see the absolute necessity of serving our fellow comrades day-by-day as we pass along The Trail of Life.

And as we approach the high noon of life, how different the Trail of Life looks to us.

In our younger days, we raced madly on. ever seeking, ever dreaming of the pot of gold up the trail. In fancy we wove dreams of the days when we would bask in the limelight of luxury and live in a mansion, and parade the avenues of fame. How brilliant; how radiant; glorious it all seemed. We smile now as we look back and recollect it all.

At the high noon of life we pause on the Trail and rest a bit and philosophize.

What is life? Why are we here? Is it worth the struggle? We look back over the years and come to the conclusion that if life means merely living for one's self alone, then it certainly is not worth the disappointments, suffering and heartaches. But—if we live a life of service, and have an honest desire in our heart to do something really worthwhile for others,—then life is, indeed, a glorious affair.

The Trail of Life is always much easier to trod when we have the companionship of friends. Friends to share our joys; our sorrows; our dreams; our success and failure. Friends to cherish and love; to lean upon when the trail is rough and rocky; friends to cheer and assist when we are in trouble.

* * *

And when the Long, Long Trail of Life finally comes to an end; when the evening shadows fall, and the bugler blows Taps—there is a heap of satisfaction in leaving behind a reputation of having been a worthwhile individual. One who ever strived to be a friend of all.

TRUCKEE JUMPERS TAKE "B"

Earl Edmunds Wins First in "C" and "Junior" Henry of Tahoe Runs Away With First in Class "D"

With a perfect day—a blue dome overhead, and plenty of golden sunshine, the Truckee Ski Meet held last Sunday was well attended by a big crowd from the entire region, Lake Tahoe, Reno, Auburn and other valley towns.

The Class "A" and "B" jumping was held on the big new ski hill—the largest on the Pacific Coast, while the Class "C' and "D" jumps were made from the ski jump scaffold; the only one west of the Rocky Mountains. The Cross Country Ski Races were held in the morning on the ski trails south of the winter sports grounds.

The Reno, Auburn, Placerville and Lake Tahoe Ski Clubs were all well represented with jumpers.

Paul Christensen of the Reno Ski Club proved to be the outstanding jumper of the day. He captured first place in the Class "A" jump and also won first in the longest standing jump conducted from the ski scaffold. He showed exceptionally fine form, and his work brought a generous applause from the big crowd.

John Rablin of the Truckee Ski Club took first in Class "B" and proved himself a master in form and control.

Earl Edmunds—1932 National Ski Champion—won first in the Class "C" and loomed up even better than last year. Earl has developed a technique which should bring him in the front ranks in the years to come.

"Junior" Henry, of the Lake Tahoe Ski Cub, was first in Class "D," and despite his limited experience, he rode the hill like an old timer. Dolley Durfee of Auburn won first in the Women's Cross Country Race, while A. Blodger of Auburn won first in the Men's Cross Country.

Emma Daley, the Champion Girl Ski Jumper of the Pacific Coast, a member of the Truckee Ski Club—made two beautiful jumps off the ski jump scaffold and won third place in Class "C." The crowd gave her a big applause.

—TRADE IN TRUCKEE—

NEW BONDS WILL BOOST LOCAL TRADE

Issued by Chamber of Commerce, and Endorsed by Lions Club. Trade Certificates Known As Prosperity Bonds in Denominations of 50c and $1 Size of Old Style Dollar Bill

In years to come, the older residents of Truckee will reminiscence on what they used for money back in the hard times of 1933. They will point to framed yellow and green certificates on the wall and tell the listeners:

"Those bond certificates once passed for real money."

The new Truckee Winter Sports Prosperity Bonds, issued by the Truckee Chamber of Commerce and endorsed by the Truckee Lions Club, in dominations of 50 cents and one dollar, are being accepted as readily as legal money at all merchants in Truckee.

The fifty cent prosperity bonds are green, and about the size of the old style paper dollar. The dollar bonds are yellow, and the same size.

The bonds will be accepted for their respective amounts—fifty cents or one dollar—in trade by various merchants in Truckee.

In order to make the $1 bond valid, one has but to procure a three cent Truckee Chamber of Commerce special stamp at their office, and endorse same with your name and affix in the space provided on the back of the bond. Each bond has spaces for thirty-six three cent stamps. When all the spaces are filled, the holder thereof may cash the bond for the face value upon surrender at the Truckee Chamber of Commerce office.

In case of the fifty cent bonds, a one and one half cent stamp is purchased from the chamber of commerce instead of a three cent stamp.

The bonds are handed out by the chamber of commerce for labor, done for either the town, or on the winter sports grounds. Such employees take their bonds to the merchants and take their value out in trade. When thus the bond gets into circulation, it means thirty six transactions before it is redeemable at the Chamber of Commerce office, and in the meantime, the bonds have financed themselves by the accumulation on the back of thirty-six stamps sold by the chamber.

THE NEW TRUCKEE SCRIP

It is especially pleasing that Truckee—the pioneer town of the region, with a long list of pioneer achievements should be the first town in Northern California to issue prosperity bonds to help relieve the unemployed situation and at the same time boost and stimulate local buisness.

The Truckee Winter Sports Prosperity Bonds in domination of fifty cents and a dollar, and issued by the Truckee Chamber of Commerce, and endorsed by the Truckee Lions Club, and accepted almost without exception as readily as legal money, is a decided progressive step, and the leaders of both organizations are to be heartily congratulated on their leadership and progressiveness.

With the present economic condition, it has been most apparent for some time that something must be done to aid the unemployed and the local business men as well. The issuance of the prosperity bonds solve the problem very efficiently and effectively.

The bonds are self-financing, and every dollar bond means an actual turnover of $36.00. In other words, the $200 worth of bonds in addition to aiding the unemployed just that much, also means an increased amount of business of $7,200 for the local business establishments.

In all probabilities, the effectiveness of this progressive step will warrant the issuing of more bonds at an early date.

The fact that the leaders of the town have been able to get together and work out such a consistent plan for the betterment of the community, is, in itself, sufficient to warrant greatly increased faith and confidence in Truckee, and our ability to meet emergency with forceful leadership.

PLEASANT VOICES

A woman who conducts a large and successful real estate business attributes her success to the telephone manners of the girls in her office.

"Whenever you answer the 'phone," she tells them, "use the same voice you would if you were talking to your sweetheart. Of course you will not say what you might say to him, but put the same interest and sweetness into your voice."

Come to think of it, this gospel must be spreading. You hear pleasant voices and a note of personal interest over the telephone from strangers more than you used to. It is probably a part of the new salesmanship made necessary by increasing sales-resistance, although we would like to believe that it also reflects more real friendliness among people in general.

It is a good hint for everybody, whether in business or not. It adds much to the charm of life to hear pleasant voices on the telephone—and elsewhere.

TRANSLATION WANTED

President Hoover's Research Committee on social trends, composed of able men and dealing with matters vital to the country, makes its report. It has things of great value and interest to tell the public. And what does it do? It tears the vitals out of the unabridged dictionary and flings a handful of verbiage like this:

> "The alternative to constructive social initiative may conceivably be a prolongation of a policy of drift and some readjustment as time goes on. More definite alternatives, however, are urged by dictatorial systems in which the factors of force and violence may loom large. In such cases the basic decisions are frankly imposed by power groups, and violence may subordinate technical intelligence in social advance.
> Unless there can be a more impressive integration of social skills and fusing of social purposes than is revealed by recent trends there can be no real assurance that these alternatives with their accompaniments of violent revolution, dark periods of serious repression of libertarian and democratic forms, the proscription and loss of many useful elements in the present productive system, can be averted.
> "Many have been led to conclude reluctantly that the emergence of some recognized and avowed form of plutocratic dictatorship is not far away.
> "An interpretation which seems to have a margin of advantage is that of the prospect of continuance of the democratic regime, with higher standards of achievement, with a more highly unified and stronger government, with sounder types of civic training, with a broader social program and a sharper edged purpose to diffuse more promptly and widely the gains of civilization, with control over social tensions of the time, with less lag between social change and governmental adaptation and with vision and contriving spirit."

Now, friends, these learned gentlemen probably meant to express thought, not to conceal it. But to the average, intelligent American for whom the message must be intended, this scholastic jargon sounds like Alice-in-Wonderland nonsense.

Here is the great defect of most of the reports from specialists, on matter of public concern. They need to be translated into English. It is a pity that the social sciences especially, so necessary for our welfare, should be made so hard to grasp.

Why can specialists in any field not learn that the short words are the best words, that clear sentences are the best English, that language to convey living thought must be composed of words that live in the mouths of men, not in the dictionary and encyclopedia?

A Lesson in Americana

FALSE PATRIOTISM

One of the most surprising of recent developments in this country is the sudden movement to "buy American," sponsored by William Randolph Hearst and the Saturday Evening Post. This is a policy which has become strong abroad, especially in England, and which Americans may have to adopt sooner or later in self-defense if the other countries persist in it. Economists almost without exception point out that, if persevered in, it will bring general ruin. Americans, they say, instead of joining in this general destruction of international trade, should be fighting the movement and helping to restore trade. Here are some typical quotations from American publications with a more sane and far-sighted view:

Los Angeles Times: "Such a policy is bound in the long run to react disadvantageously to our own trade abroad."

New York Journal of Commerce: "How many American workers will be deprived of dollars to spend, if we cut our foreign purchases and destroy the market outlets which provide the resources out of which the foreigners pay us for what we have to sell? If we are to 'Think American' and 'Buy American,' as our self-styled patriots urge us to do, then we cannot 'Sell Foreign,' and we ought to begin at once to scrap the idle machinery that once worked to produce goods to sell in EuropeandAsia."

Detroit News: "In taking such a course, are we not saying good-night to prospects of broadened outlets for our wheat, cotton, meats and many manufactures, including automobiles and trucks?"

Texas Weekly of Dallas: "The advice given by the Post is bad advice. It is bad economically, and more than that, it is bad spiritually. But worst of all is the circumstance that is presented in the guise of patriotism."

GOVERNMENT

Whether you believe in socialism or not, the world seems to be drifting toward socialism as straight as it can go.

Steadily there is spreading throughout the mind of the body politic the attitude which says to government: "Take care of me." Already a surprisingly large percentage of the populace are adopting that basis of thought.

Formerly, the people expected to support their government. They looked on government as a thing they must finance and keep going. Today there is a strong tendency on the part of the people to expect government to support them, to look to government to finance them and keep them going. That radical change in point of view is probably due to the long exploited fallacy that government is responsible for good times—one of those myths which, once created, may develop into a dangerous something that can not be stopped. It is natural for the people long educated to the idea that government is responsible for good times to get into their heads the thought:

"Well, if the government is responisble for good times, then the government is also responsible for bad times.

"If the government brings bad times on us, then it is the duty of the government to take care of us through those bad times."

For the first time in the history of this country we see the people turning to the government and demanding to be supported by it. Once we get in the habit of looking to any source for our support, and of feeling that we are justly entitled to sustenance from that source, we are more than likely continually to strenghten our demands and constantly to enlarge our expectations. Even a favor performed three times becomes an obligation.

Something has been started in this radical change of public attitude toward government that is going to be hard to stop. In fact, to stop it, may be impossible. It is normal for the human being to want to lean on somebody or something for food, shelter and clothing and every kind of protection. If government can be made to stand for such leaning, then government will be compelled to stand for it.

This is a nation that can be governed by a majority of its people. If enough people demand to be supported by the government, then the government will have to support them. After a certain percentage of the population gets its support from the government, then in self-defense the rest must have the same privilege, for it will be impossible for the smaller percentage of the people to carry on their backs the larger percentage of the people.

At present, government is supported by taxes; those taxes are paid by the people who can and will pay them. After the percentage of those who can not or will not pay taxes, but who demand support from the government, reaches a certain point, it will become impossible for those who can and will pay taxes, to pay enough to support through the government, those who will not or can not pay taxes, yet who demand support from the government.

When the immediately foregoing condition is reached, one of two things will happen: Either there will have to be a return to the state of affairs in which the people support the government or the government will be obliged to take over everything and support everybody, and run everybody's life.

Right now, we are getting dangerously near the place where a decision must be made. We are getting perilously close to the pass where we must return to the first principles of our government with the evils that we know, or on to new principles of our government with the evils that we do not know. Nobody under the sun can tell what will happen if the government takes over everything and everybody.

Of one thing we can be certain: In no combination of conditions shall we find Utopia. Under no set of circumstances, shall we find perfection. No matter how beautiful a land may look in the distance, it has its disadvantages. No matter how idealistic a plan may appear afar off, it has its serious drawbacks.

You might as well be thinking about this question; it is sooner or later to come before you for a decision.

TAHOE REGION NEWS

By "SWANEE"

Katherine Bottimore, niece of Maud Warren Proctor, and a frequent visitor at Homewood during the summer months, is slowly recovering from an automobile accident suffered some months ago. After having spent two months at Sutter Hospital she has now gone to her mother's ranch at Herald, to await complete recovery.

Mr. and Mrs. Otis Hursey of Tahoe are the proud parents of an eight pound boy, Roger Philip, who arrived on January 23rd at the ranch home of Mrs. Hursey's mother in Fallon, Nevada, where she and her husband have been visiting for several months past. The Hurseys are residents of Lake Forest and expect to return in the early spring.

Dr. George M. Gardner of San Francisco, who has a summer home at Homewood, figured prominently in the news of the day recently when he was convicted by a jury in Judge A. F. St Sure's court, and fined $500. He was accused, along with a number of other bay region doctors who acted similarly, of signing a false affadavit for a World War Veteran. Dr. Gardner formerly practiced in Fallon, Nevada. His father operated for 21 years a large lumber mill and employed a thousand men for a period of twenty-one years at Glenbrook and Tallac in early days.

Contrary to rumors heard occasionally of late, Dr. L. E. Farmer of Folsom and Homewood, has no intentions of retiring, according to a letter received from her today. She expects to return to the Lake this summer the same as she always does to continue her practice here.

There was a meeting of the Tahoe Ski Club on Friday night at the Women's club house with a fair attendance. After a short business meeting it was decided that Donald Cowell should be sent to Big Bear Lake for the class C division jump which completes the list of entrants sponsored by the Tahoe Ski Club The Home Guards are wishing our entrants every manner of success and hope they succeed in bringing home at least one of the coveted honors, and we will all be waiting anxiously the outcome of the big meet.

Mr. and Mrs. C. O. Valentine returned to Tahoe on Sunday after several months vacation in the southern part of the state.

Mrs. Henry Hinkle left on Friday to visit over the week-end in San Francisco with her sister and brother-in-law Mr. and Mrs. George Kelley, and also her mother Mrs. Mc Glason who has been in poor health recently.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Whitney of San Francisco are the proud parents of a baby girl, Edna Shirley, who arrived on the 29th of January. Mrs. Whitney is the elder daughter of Mrs. Minnie Pomin of Idlewild.

Miss Virginia West was the house guest over the week-end of Miss Lillian Vernon of Tahoe City.

The 1,000,000 baby trout received not long ago by Mr. West at the hatchery here, escaped death by a narrow margin when the snowplow opened the Truckee-Tahoe highway just in time to rush them their new milk diet. The food sacs upon which they exist during the first three weeks of their lives, was just vanishing when their new form of nourishment arrived.

Tahoe is indeed proud of those who took part in the Truckee Meet bringing back three prizes(one first and two seconds.

Junior Henry took first place in Class D jump with Carl Bechdolt Jr. right behind him in second place. Miss Kathleen Anderson proved herself an adept skier when she captured second place in the women's cross-country three mile race coming in only 20 seconds behind the winner, Dolly Durfee. Marie Henry also merited a prize in taking third in this race. Congratulations, all of you, Tahoe is indeed proud of your accomplishments.

CALIFORNIA'S MARRIAGES ON DECREASE

By MELVIN LORD
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
Special to the Truckee Republican

SACRAMENTO, Cal., Feb. 9—(UP)—A combination of California's "gin marriage law" and the depression has proved too much for Dan Cupid.

According to the state department of public health fewer marriages were performed in California last year than during any single year since 1919.

The total number of marriages for 1932 were 43,164, a decrease of 4,357 under the previous year's total.

In Nevada county, 48 couples said "I do" last year, as compared to 33 in 1931, the department reported

Despite the general trend toward fewer marriages, 14 California counties reported increases in marital ceremonies including Butte, Calaveras, Colusa, El Dorado, Lake, Mariposa, Mendocino, Modoc, Napa, Nevada, Stanta Cruz, Shasta, Sierra and Siskiyou.

The total increase in these counties, however, amounted to only 127, while the losses in the largest centers of populations are "conspicuous," the report pointed out.

There were, for instance, 1,685 fewer marriages in Los Angeles county in 1932 as compared to 1931, and 616 fewer in San Francisco.

"The combination of the three-day marriage law and the economic depression seems to have been very effective in reducing the number of marriages in California to a minimum," the department reported.

"In 1928, following passage of the so-called "gin marriage law," there was an unparalleled drop in the number of California marriages. In that year 49,945 marriages were performed. The total increased to 50,154 in 1930 and then started down to the present level. The greatest number of marriages that ever occurred in California during a single year was in 1926 when 56,644 marriages were registered."

NORDEN NEWS

By C. W. KRAMER

Keen interest has been shown recently among the better card players of B&B 108 Tunnel Six in their contest in play off games to prove the Class "A" teams who will soon be in the field to play "solo" among any of Norden's many solo players or nearby vicinities. The champions in recent games played were Nobel Robinson and Johnny Backarich, who eliminated Joseph Northey and Clarence Cook. More interesting games are still on the program.

Ernest Van Der Vogen, a resident of Sacramento, is assisting at the Norden Grocery during the absence of Postmaster J. C. Lyon, who is now in Sacramento recovering from a recent flu attack. The postmastership is ably conducted by his wife Mrs. J. C. Lyon.

Mr. and Mrs. Rutishauser of Sacramento vistied with the Lyon family on Norden Terrace over the week end. Kenneth Lyon came up with them to visit his parents.

William C. Weiand, B&B 108 Tunnel Six, is confined to his bed in Sacramento with a flu attack. He is expected back at Norden within a few days.

William Dewitt, B&B 108 Tunnel Six, spent Sunday in the Capital City on business.

Jesse P. Tilson, B&B 108 Tunnel Six, spent Sunday in Truckee at the champion ski tournament and reports a fine exhibition of skill was demonstrated by all the contestants and says he enjoyed to the fullest extent his day at the snow sports.

A correction in the last issue is due our readers in that of reporting a large black bear being seen at upper Cascade bridge west of Norden recently. In reality the report corrected proved to be one of Scotty Allan's dogs picked up by the pilot of some west bound engine or train and on passing the bridge the carcass fell through the bridge Evidently the animal was trapped by the deep snow on the right of way. A bear is known to be in the direct vicinity of Troy, as it has been seen many times, but which is hibernating at this time. So in due respect to Mr. Bear this correction is evinced, as the bear is probably at home and not cavorting about in the snow.

Mrs. Harold G. Boomer and children of Old Summit were recent visitors to Sacramento on a rush business trip.

Mrs. William J. Sellick Sr. of Norden recently returned after a visit with her son, H. Olney Sellick and family of Antioch.

Elmer Eversult, Tunnel Six, used his week end to good advantage among friends in Sacramento.

H. Wallace Heglund, Tunnel Six, who has been wintering in Sacramento for the past six weeks, resumed his activities this week.

William Bennett, about the most polite gentleman about Norden, is overstaying his leave in Sacramento this week and folks here are anxious to learn the reason.

John Creasy, B&B 108 Tunnel Six, spent his Sunday diversions in and about Truckee, reporting a fine day.

NEVADA COUNTY WILL GET $5,919 OF STATE MOTOR LICENSE FEE

Special to the Truckee Republican

SACRAMENTO, Cal., Feb. 2—(UP)—Nevada county will receive $5,919 as its share of motor vehicle license fees collected by the state during 1932. The amount is based on a county registration of 4,078 vehicles announced by the department of motor vehicles.

In all $5,927,294 was received by the state from registration of 2,041,824 vehicles.

Fifty percent of the net collections goes to the state department of public works and 50 per cent to the counties for road building and maintenance purposes. Apportionment to the various counties is based upon the number of vehicles registered from the county.

"The apportionment represents the return of the California motorist's money to him in the form of more and better roads," explained Russel Bevans, state registrar of motor vehicles. "It represents the net amount of licesne fees collected during 1932 after deductions are made for handling all registration matters and for operation of the California Highway Patrol."

Included in the total registration were 1,865,333 automobiles, 8,039 solid tired trucks, 98,244 pneumatic tired trucks, 8,338 motorcycles, 7,118 solid tired trailers and 54,752 pneumatic tired trailers.

"Los Angeles with its huge motor vehicle registration drew $1,204,407, the largest share of the money" Bevans announced. "San Francisco county was second with $220,658 and Alameda third with $211,821."

The 50 per cent which goes to the state will be expended by the department of public works in accordance with the announced program of road building for the relief of unemployment.

Recall Election Would Cost Nevada County $850

By MELVIN LORD
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
Special to the Truckee Republican

SACRAMENTO, Cal., Feb. 9—(UP)—A recall election would cost Nevada county approximately $850, according to an estimate prepared by Rolland A. Vandegrift, state director of finance.

The estimate is based on an election cost of $80 per thousand population and for the entire state would require the expenditure of between $500,000 and $600,000, it is claimed.

As computed by Vandegrift, the county cost would range from $50 for Alpine to as high as $178,300 for Los Angeles county.

Compilation of election costs represents the most recent move on the part of the administration to fight the recall of Governor Rolph as proposed by George Sehlmeyer, master of the state Grange.

In announcing the figures, Vandegrift said:

"Every citizen and taxpayer should realize that if he signs a recall petition in the name of economy he is, in fact, signing for an increased tax burden of more than one-half million dollars. When taxpayers realize this they should mete out a stinging repudiation to those fostering this recall."

In answer to this argument, Sehlmeyer said the expense of the recall election would be "justified in this case."

The recall petitions as prepared by Sehlmeyer and the Grange directors, seek the removal of the governor on general charges of "extravagance, incompetency and frivolity."

plans of the recall movement were revealed by the Grange leaders so far has been devoted to statements by friends of the governor against the proposal, and other statements by proponents urging the circulation of petitions.

The most recent announcement issued by Sehlmeyer said the Grange directors would accept no compromise and that he would "continue to contact other groups in California which are interested in the recall movement."

Management of Veterans' Home May Be Transferred To Federal Government

SACRAMENTO, Cal., Feb. 9—(UP)—Management and operation of the Veterans' Home at Yountville may be transferred from the state to the federal government, according to Rolland A. Vandegrift, state director of finance.

Vandegrift has proposed the transfer as an economy measure for the state and has been advised Brigadier General Frank T. Hines, head of the United States Veterans' Bureau, plans an immediate inspection of the Yountville property.

Veterans' Homes in Oregon and New York have been taken over by the federal government, Vandegrift said.

POLITICALLY SPEAKING

By HOMER L. ROBERTS
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
Special to the Truckee Republican

SACRAMENTO, Cal., Feb. 9—(UP)—The recall movement against Governor Rolph, it appears, has been stopped before it started.

Widespread opposition from virtually every newspaper in the state, public officials, members of the legislature, local units of the state grange and other farm organizations have already slowed the proceedings down to nearly a halt.

Main arguments against the recall were: A special election would cost approximately $600,000, most of which would be borne by the county taxpayers; if successful, the recall would accomplish nothing but to throw out the executive as his term neared a close; a new governor would mean a speciall session of the legislature, and it would produce endless confusion, with the people footing the bill.

The so-called "blow the dome" committee of senators, investigating the Rolph administration, will center its inquiry in Los Angeles, after a brief session in Sacramento. Sixty witnesses will be summoned in the south, and the investigation will focus on the following phases:

(1) Activities of the state division of building and loans under Former Governor Friend W. Richardson involving appointment of custodians for bankrupt associations; (2) purchase of game refuge sites in Southern California by the fish and game commission; (3) alleged favoritism in state insurance business shown to the firm of Rolph, Landis and Ellis, of which the governor's son, James Rolph III, as a member; (4) purchase of the Lewis ranch in Ventura county for $415,000 as a site for a state mental hospital, and (5) reports of maladministration at Whittier state school for juvenile delinquents.

State Controller Ray L. Riley and Fred E. Stewart, director of the state tax research bureau, launched a statewide campaign of education to acquaint the public with the "Riley-Stewart' tax plan. This program they declared, would balance the budget, relieve real estate of 50 per cent of its tax burden, and solve the state's financial difficulties.

Political gossip: Washington reports are that Hiram W. Johnson will not accept a post in Roosevelt's cabinet. This means that Rolph would not get a chance to succeed Johnson. Lieutenant Governor Frank F. Merriam said in Long Beach he wouldn't appoint Rolph to the United States senate anyway, despite the fact that Merriam told the writer personally he'd be glad to name name Rolph if Johnson should take the cabinet post. Wonder why he changed his mind? Thousands of big, shiny deputy sheriff's badges worn by Californians would be taken away if a bill now in the legislature passes. Former Governor C. C Young took a crack at Governor Rolph for failing to raise the taxes of public utilities. Rolph replied that the tax research bureau had made no such recommendation. Fred Stewart, director of the bureau, "corrected" the governor. Stewart said the report "clearly implied the tax rate on utilities is to low." Tallant Tubbs, former state senator, is going to write a book. It is going to show why the Republican party lost out because of lack of leadership. $54,966 was the cost of the 27-day session of the state legislature just closed.

Nevada County Would Receive $73,124 To Support Its Schools

By MELVIN LORD
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
Special to the Truckee Republican

SACRAMENTO, Cal., Feb. 2—(UP)—State school support totaling $21,218,050 for elementary schools and $7,412,116 for high schools would be allocated to counties during the next fiscal year, according to a tentative estimate prepared by Rolland A. Vandegrift, state director of finance.

Of this total, Nevada county elementary schools would get $51,556, and high schools, $20,568, it is estimated.

Despite the demand for economy, the tentative allocation represents a slight increase over the present fiscal year.

California elemenary schools received $41,391,794 in state school funds during the current biennium, as compared to the estimate for the next two year period of $42,861,360, included in Governor Rolph's 1933-35 budget.

The 1931-33 apportionment for high schools was $15,286,753, and is estimated at $17,411,940 for the next two years.

While changes in school finances have been demanded by both Governor Rolph and the legislature, it appears likely that the basis on which the new estimates were prepared will not be touched and that the counties probably will receive sums near these estimates.

The allocation is based on a rate of $30 per unit of average daily attendance. A bill which woud abolish this rate and leave the entire matter in the hands of the legislature was killed in the senate constitutional amendments committee.

Since that time, despite the steadily increasing demands for economy, the plan to make whatever reductions are needed from district and county funds and leave the state's share untouched has been gaining in favor.

AVERAGE COST OF LEGISLATURE IS $2,000 EVERY DAY

SACRAMENTO, Cal., Feb. 9—(UP)—It cost the state an average of $2,000 a day to keep the legislature going for the first half session.

A check of legislative expenses, not including the cost of printing the 3,698 bills introduced, shows a total expenditure of $54,966. Of this the senate spent $20,643, and the assembly, $34,323.

Included in the legislative bills are the traveling expenses of the lawmakers, ranging from $66.10 for Senator Ben Hulse of Imperial county, to 10 cents for Senator J. M Inman, Sacramento.

Other expense items included such things as $33.65 for gold-plated badges for the sargeants-at-arms.
